Eccentric man, Eccentric Accents

Bethany, CT. Bob Monaco, of Eccentric Accents, has been traveling the strange and unusual places of the world to bring some rather interesting, and sometimes peculiar, treasures to the World Wide Web.

His story begins many years ago with an interest in reptiles, and now has blossomed into a full-fledged fascination with bringing the oddities of the universe into the hands of everyone. Recently he has added some of the most dramatic items to date to his web site. Aptly named eccentricAccents.com he sells many unique, bizarre and desirable items. Under the heading of "The Bayou" visitors will discover the Asian Spitting Cobra, and the mighty Saltwater Crocodile. Then, with a couple of mouse clicks, they can travel hundreds of miles away to the "Southwest" to take home a taxidermy Rattlesnake, Armadillo or even a dirt sample from the Roswell crash site! The "Seven Seas" is another area where you can find some rather unique shells, jewelry and sharks.

If nothing else, Bob Monaco enjoys looking for these Eccentric Accents. One of his greatest joys is the raw curiosity of what's out there. Some of the places he has visited can be discovered too, in a separate section entitled, you guessed it, Eccentric Places.

With the wealth of knowledge and drive to discover, we can all rest assured that there will be plenty more items to be added to an already diverse collection of Eccentric Accents.
